Why are medicals important?

Employment medicals play a vital role in ensuring the safety, health, and well-being of mining employees, while also promoting productivity and compliance with industry regulations.

What is the difference between Emerald Medical Group and Emerald Employment Medicals?

Most people are aware that Emerald Employment Medicals is linked with Emerald Medical Group. To make medical appointments easier for our community we are both located at the same address, however Emerald Employment Medicals is specifically dedicated to any medicals related to work and employment and not general medical appointments. This means that we have a team working solely in this department who are there to answer your enquiries and focus purely on employment medicals, whilst being in a convenient and familiar location.
